Client Holiday Season Gifting

At Affine, we place a strong emphasis on the lawful and ethical operation of our businesses. We recognize that the exchange of business gifts is a customary practice that can help foster positive working relationships, as long as these gifts are of a nominal value. This policy is designed to provide guidelines on the giving of business gifts, ensuring that our actions remain within the bounds of ethical conduct.

For the purpose of this policy, a gift is defined as an item given without payment, an invitation for a meal, or any other benefit provided to the recipient without charge and with a monetary value. When giving a gift, it should be seen as a gesture of courtesy and respect, representing a normal aspect of our business relations.

Affine extends its client gifting on specific occasions, which are as follows:

1. Affine Offshore Clientele: Diwali
2. Affine Onsite Clientele: Christmas

Guidelines for Client Gifting:

1. Responsibility: The responsibility for client gifting lies with the respective Account/Sales Manager or the designated Client Point of Contact. They are accountable for ensuring that the gifting process is compliant with our policies and in accordance with the client-approved contracts.
2. Gift Value: The value of the gift should align with and remain within the limits stipulated in the client-approved contracts. It is essential to adhere to the predetermined financial boundaries to maintain transparency and professionalism.
3. Compliance with Client Policies/Contracts: Gifting should always be conducted in line with the specific policies and contracts of our clients. This ensures that our actions are in harmony with the expectations set by our clients and are in compliance with Affine's management standards.

By following these guidelines, we aim to engage in client gifting in a manner that reflects our commitment to ethical and professional conduct. This approach not only enhances our client relationships but also upholds the integrity of Affine's operations.

Thank you for your dedication to upholding our ethical and professional standards.
